

the number of interacting partners as a function of the length of disordered regions line fitted using rlm

