The relationship between the number of publications per gene and the number of interacting partners of proteins encoded by that gene blue line was fitted using robust linear regression, all UniprotAC were coerced to generic UniprotAC, large and small scale experiments